How to Pace Yourself

- Quickly Scan the Entire Test: Spend the first couple of minutes skimming through all the questions. This helps you identify which questions seem easier or more familiar, so you can tackle those first.
- Prioritize Easier Questions: Answer questions you find straightforward immediately. This builds momentum and ensures you secure quick points.
- Flag Tough Questions: If a question looks complicated or time-consuming, mark it and return after finishing the easier ones.
- Keep an Eye on the Clock: Set mini-deadlines, such as completing 25 questions every 15 minutes. This helps you stay on track.
- Avoid Overthinking: Trust your instincts on tricky questions. Spending too long on one can eat precious time.

Practice Under Timed Conditions

One of the best ways to improve speed and accuracy is to practice with sample tests that mimic the 45-minute, 75-question format. This will train your brain to process questions swiftly and reduce anxiety on the actual test day.

Strategies for Finding the Right Answers

indicate the right tense or grammatical form.

Reading Comprehension Questions

Error Identification Questions
