Main Components of the PPC

and other crimes undermining national security.

Comparative Analysis with Other Jurisdictions

Though Pakistan's PPC is rooted in colonial-era legislation, it has diverged from its Indian counterpart over time. Pakistan's amendments have incorporated Islamic legal principles, reflecting the country's constitutional commitment to Islam. This has led to the inclusion of Hudood Ordinances and blasphemy laws that are absent or differently framed in Indian law.

In contrast, many Western penal codes emphasize rehabilitation and human rights protections more explicitly, whereas Pakistan's PPC balances traditional values with modern legal requirements. Understanding these distinctions is important for comparative legal scholars and international legal practitioners engaging with Pakistani law.
